Huntsville's own Marc Lacy, a graduate of Alabama A&M University is a nationally renowned, award winning poet/author and a lecturer. He has performed all over the country at many national literary events and spoken word venues. Marc is a contributing writer to RADAR and The Grove Magazines. He is also a writer for Blogginginblack.com. Along with writing and performance, Marc utilizes his wordsmith talent and poetic flair as he facilitates lectures and conducts workshops concerning writing, communication, love and relationships. Lacy credits his faith in God and love of family for providing energy he needs, to succeed.
